Speech of Andrew Johnson--What He Proposes to Do--A Vindication of His Official Career.

KNOXVILLE, TENN., April 3.

Ex-President Andrew Johnson arrived here at 11 o'clock this morning, on a special train, from Greenville. There was a large crowd at the depot to welcome him. He proceeded in an open carriage to the Kramer House, with martial music and a long procession.

Mr. Johnson was introduced to the assembled crowd by T. A. R. Nelson, and was received with cheers. About four thousand people were present. He returned thanks for the cordial welcome he had received, and said that he had returned to their midst to spend the remainder of his days. He had every office in the gift of the people. He came to Tennessee penniless and a stranger. He had lived here, and expected to die here.

He intended to devote the remainder of his life to the vindication of his official career. He had been bent, but not broken, by the cares of State. He had received papers containing his obituary, but he was not dead yet. He had been denounced as a traitor to party for fidelity to the Constitution. If that be treason, let party go. He had stood between the people and a despotic, corrupt Congress. He had done his duty. He had violated no pledge. He was nominated not by a Radical convention, not by a Democratic convention, but by a Union convention, a constitutional convention. He accepted the nomination, and urged the Democrats to stand by the Union. He had been accused of abusing the pardoning power. He had pardoned more than any living man--sixty-five thousand at one stroke of the pen. He was glad of it. He had been arraigned as a culprit, for opposition to the Tennessee office Bill, by Radicals who, at the same time, bailed Davis out of jail.

He then spoke to the colored men. They had, he said, been duped into Leagues, and had found their new masters worse than their old masters. What had the League done for them? He did not want the colored people to be carried away by prejudice. He had been called their Moses. They would learn, after a while, who their friends were. The Leagues were conspiracies against the Government, and made slaves of black men. What use was there for oath-bound Leagues in a free country?

He believed that, if they were not checked, they would destroy the liberties of the country. He had given Parson Brownlow fifteen hundred dollars to establish a Union paper in Knoxville, in 1863, and had received Brownlow's receipt for the same; but now he was a traitor. While the black men kept whites disfranchised, the bondholders were making slaves of all, by collecting yearly fifteen million dollars in gold. Were the bonds bought with gold? No.

He closed by urging the people to stand by the Constitution. The bulwark of liberty is the Constitution, and without the Constitution, there is no liberty.

He spoke two and a half hours, and was frequently applauded. The day was beautiful.

He leaves for Nashville at 1 P. M., on Monday.

Railroads in this State.

The Indianapolis Evening Commercial, says: "There are now, in running order, within the borders of this State, two thousand five hundred and sixty-six miles of first-class railroad. The tracks, engines, shops, and all their property complete was valued one year ago at one hundred and sixty-four millions two hundred and twenty-four thousand dollars. The three roads that have the greatest number of miles of track are the Ohio and Mississippi, Louisville, New Albany and Chicago, and the Indianapolis, Cincinnati and Lafayette, according to the old plats; but since the consolidation of the Indiana Central, Union and Logansport, and Chicago Air Line into the Columbus and Indiana railway, the latter takes the lead of all; and in a few days the track to Vincennes will be added also."

In Disraeli's late government there was not a single Roman Catholic. In Gladstone's there are six.

DR. JOHN BULL'S
GREAT REMEDIES.

DR. JOHN BULL
Manufacturer and Vender of the Celebrated
SMITH'S TONIC SYRUP,
FOR THE CURE OF
AGUE AND FEVER, OR CHILLS AND FEVER.

The proprietor of this celebrated medicine justly claims it a superiority over all remedies ever offered to the public for the SAFE, CERTAIN, SPEEDY, and PERMANENT cure of Ague and Fever, or Chills and Fever, whether of short or long standing. He refers to the entire Western and South-western country to bear him testimony to the truth of the assertion, that in no case whatever will it fail to cure, if the directions are strictly followed out. In a great many cases a single dose has been sufficient for a cure and whole families have been cured by a single bottle, with a perfect restoration of the general health. It is, however, prudent, and in every case more certain to cure, if its use is continued in smaller doses for a week or two after the disease has been checked, more especially in difficult and long-standing cases. Usually, this medicine will not require any aid to keep the bowels in good order; should the patient, however, require a cathartic medicine, after having taken three or four doses of the Tonic, a single dose of BULL'S VEGETABLE FAMILY PILLS will be sufficient. DR. JOHN BULL'S Principal Office: No. 40 Fifth, Green Street, LOUISVILLE, KY.

BULL'S WORM DESTROYER.
VILLANOW, WALKER Co., GA.,
June 23rd, 1866.

Dr. JOHN BULL--Dear Sir: I have recently given your 'Worm Destroyer' several trials and find it wonderfully efficacious. It has not failed in a single instance to have the wished for effect. I am doing a pretty large country practice, and have daily use for some article of the kind. I am free to confess that I know of no remedy recommended by the ablest authors that is so certain and speedy in its effects. On the contrary they are uncertain in the extreme. My object in writing you is to find out upon what terms I can get the medicine directly from you. If I can get it upon easy terms, I shall use a great deal of it. I am aware that the use of such articles is contrary to the teachings and practice of a great majority of the regular line of M. D's, but I see no just cause or good sense in discarding a remedy which we know to be efficient, simply because we may be ignorant of its combination. For my part, I shall make it a rule to use all and any means to alleviate suffering humanity which I may be able to command. I have learned its effects first and secured the sole right to secure that knowledge. However, I am by no means an advocate or supporter of the thousands of worthless nostrums that flood the country, that purport to cure all manner of disease to which human flesh is heir. Please reply soon, and inform me of your best terms. I am, sir, most respectfully,
JULIUS P. CLEMEST, M. D.

BULL'S SARSAPARILLA.
A Good Reason for the Captain's Faith.--Read the Captain's Letter and the Letter from his Mother.
Benton Barracks, Mo., April 30, 1866.

Dr. JOHN BULL--Dear Sir: Knowing the efficiency of your Sarsaparilla, and the healing and beneficial qualities it possesses, I send you the following statement of my case. I was wounded about two years ago--was taken prisoner and confined for sixteen months. Being moved so often, my wounds have not healed yet. I have not sat up a moment since I was wounded. I am shot through the hips. My general health is impaired, and I need something to assist nature. I have more faith in your Sarsaparilla than anything else. I wish that that is genuine. Please express me a half a dozen bottles, and oblige
CAPT. C. P. JOHNSON, St. Louis, Mo.

P. S.--The following was written April 30, 1866, by Mrs. Jennie Johnson, mother of Capt. Johnson.

Dr. BULL--Dear Sir: My husband, Dr. C. S. Johnson, was a skillful surgeon and physician in Central New York, where he died, leaving the above C. P. Johnson to my care. At thirteen years of age he had a chronic diarrhea and anorexia, for which I gave him your Sarsaparilla. IT CURED HIM. I have for ten years recommended it to many in New York, Ohio, and Iowa, for anorexia, fever sores, and general debility. Perfect success has attended it. THE CURES EFFECTED IN SOME CASE
